

Get Cozy with Natural Gas

As a Wyoming Gas customer, you already know and appreciate natural gas as the most efficient and cost-effective energy source to heat your home and cook your meals. But there are many other ways to utilize natural gas in your home or business to add even more convenience and efficiency to your life. Here are some examples:

Home and Business Standby Generators - When electricity fails, natural gas is there to keep your household operating and your family safe. Get peace of mind and automatic protection during a power outage by installing a natural gas standby generator with automatic transfer for your home or business. These generators come in different sizes and put the control back in your hands. Larger generators can power your entire home in the event of an outage or you can choose a smaller generator and power only what you deem necessary.

Clothes Dryer - Natural gas clothes dryers can save you money in energy costs compared to electric models. Using a natural gas clothes dryer also dries your clothes quicker than an electric model because natural gas clothes dryers use a large quantity of dry, absorbent air which passes through your clothes and dries them more quickly.¹

Outdoor Grills - By converting your outdoor cooking grill to natural gas, you will never have to worry about running out of propane again. With a natural gas cooking grill, you can focus on cooking and entertaining your guests and not how much propane is left in the tank. The continuous flow of natural gas lets you focus on being the master of your backyard barbeques. Plus, it is better for the environment because of fewer greenhouse gas emissions.

Fireplace Insert or Gas Logs - Switch from a wood burning fireplace to a natural gas fireplace insert or a gas log set and never deal with the hassle of cleaning out the fireplace again. No more trips to the wood pile on a cold day to stock up on firewood. Switch today and save the firewood for camping!

Outdoor Patio Heaters - Extend your outdoor season with a natural gas patio heater. A single natural gas patio heater can provide warmth for an outdoor area up to 200 square feet and keep your outdoor spaces comfortable for family and guests.

Outdoor Fire Pits - Outdoor fire pits are another way to provide warmth and comfort to your outdoor spaces. With the constant supply of clean and efficient natural gas to fuel your fire pit, you will keep the festivities and ambiance going for as long as you want to.

Lighting - Natural gas lamps brings warmth and charm to walkways, driveways, entryways and outdoor living spaces. Natural gas Tiki Torches creates a wonderful ambiance and inviting atmosphere.

As you can see, natural gas offers many efficient and convenient solutions for everyday life and provides a continuous flow as an energy fuel.

DIRECTIONS

Herb-and-Mustard
Sirloin Steak with Baked Potatoes

Ingredients:

4 small russet potatoes, scrubbed	5 tablespoons unsalted butter
1 ½ pounds sirloin steak (½ inch thick)	Kosher salt and freshly ground pepper
2 tablespoons spicy mustard, plus more for serving	2 tablespoons chopped fresh chives or scallion greens
2 teaspoons crumbled herbes de Provence

Directions

1. Pierce the potatoes a few times with a fork, then microwave until soft, about 15 minutes.
2. Meanwhile, pierce both sides of the steak with a fork. Mix the mustard and herbes de Provence in a bowl and rub all over the steak.
3. Heat a large cast-iron skillet over medium-high heat. Add 1 tablespoon butter; as soon as it melts, add the steak and sear on one side until browned, about 7 minutes. Turn and brown the other side, about 4 more minutes for medium-rare. Transfer the steak to a cutting board, season with salt and pepper, and top with 1 tablespoon butter. Let rest at least 5 minutes.
4. Return the skillet to medium-high heat. Add the potatoes and turn to coat on all sides with the pan juices. Cook until the skins are slightly crisp, about 3 minutes.
5. Mix the remaining 3 tablespoons butter with the chives and season with salt. Thinly slice the steak on the bias. Serve with the potatoes, chive butter and mustard.

At just an inch in size, the Irukandji Jellyfish carries one of the most painful stings in the animal kingdom. The toxin in the venom causes excruciating pain and can lead to heart attack in its victims. The symptoms of the sting are so severe they are referred to as the "Irukandji Syndrome". However, when it comes to lethality, the sting from the Chironex Fleckeri, more commonly known as the "Box Jellyfish", can cause death in a healthy human in minutes.
